Following is excerpt from Secretary's press conference today dealing with helicopter and personnel held by East Germans:

QUOTE Question. Mr. Secretary, is the United States prepared to deal with East Germany in trying to procure the release of the nine Army men and the helicopter forced down in Communist Germany?

Answer. The normal procedure which heretofore has been followed, and followed successfully I think on both sides, has been that in the case of military people we deal through the military authorities of the occupying powers. But when it comes to getting Americans out of a country, we don't stand on ceremony we deal with any people to get them out. I may say that that does not involve any recognition. We have been getting Americans out of Communist

China not with the completeness or rapidity that we had hoped, but we have been getting them out through dealing with the Chinese Communists. There was a report today that I just saw as I came down here that two more have been released. I hope that's true. When you have people kidnapped, you deal with the kidnappers. If the authorities don't want to deal with this matter through the established channels which have been operating for the past twelve years, we will deal with them in whatever ways necessary, but with the clear understanding that we deal with a practical situation and that it does not carry any implication at all of recognition.
